Land Acknowledgement Statement

We acknowledge the lands and waters now known as Maryland are the home of its first peoples: the Accohannock Indian Tribe, Assateague People's Tribe, Cedarville Band of Piscataway Indians, Choptico Band of Indians, Lenape Tribe, Nanticoke Tribe, Nause-Waiwash Band of Indians, Piscataway Conoy Tribe, Piscataway Indian Nation, Pocomoke Indian Nation, Susquehannock Indians, Youghiogheny River Band of Shawnee, and tribes in the Chesapeake watershed who have seemingly vanished since the coming of colonialism. We acknowledge that this land is now home to other tribal peoples living here in diaspora. We acknowledge the forced removal of many from the lands and waterways that nurtured them as kin. We acknowledge the degradation that continues to be wrought on the land and waters in pursuit of resources. We acknowledge the right of the land and waterways to heal so that they can continue to provide food and medicine for all. We acknowledge that it is our collective obligation to pursue policies and practices that respect the land and waters so that our reciprocal relationship with them can be fully restored.

Subcommittee Focus

Cross-Sector Collaboration

- The workgroup discussed the potential advantages of partnerships among arts organizations, educational institutions, and businesses to address resource gaps for artists. But, the group also discussed that the needs of artists are often disregarded in cross-sector collaborations because these collaborative efforts only benefit artists affiliated or directly sponsored by the partnering organizations.
 - The workgroup will study initiatives to connect artists across regions and create statewide networks to bridge resource gaps.
 - The group will explore how cross-sector collaborations have been formed in the past and research the impact these have had on Maryland's arts ecosystem.
