MARYLAND STATE ARTS COUNCIL OVERVIEW

The Maryland State Arts Council (MSAC) is an agency of the State of Maryland, under the authority of the Department of Business and Economic Development. Since it was established in 1967, the purpose of the Council has been “to create a nurturing climate for the arts in the State” as stated in its founding legislation. To carry out its mission, MSAC awards grants to not-for-profit, tax-exempt organizations for ongoing arts programming and arts projects. MSAC awards grants to individual artists, and provides technical and advisory assistance to individuals and groups. The Council also carries out programs of its own to enhance the cultural life of the residents of Maryland. MSAC receives its funds as an annual appropriation from the State of Maryland, and from grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. The Council also may receive contributions from private, non-governmental sources.

Mission Statement and Goals
The mission of the Maryland State Arts Council is to encourage and invest in the advancement of the arts for the people of our State. The goals of the Council are to support artists and arts organizations in their pursuit of artistic excellence; to ensure the accessibility of the arts to all citizens; and to promote statewide awareness of arts resources and opportunities. MSAC’s programs are aimed at benefiting Maryland residents regardless of political or religious opinion or affiliation, marital status, race, color, creed, age, national origin, sex or sexual orientation, physical or mental ability, or geographic location within the State.

Professional Grants Review Panels
To assist the Council in its decision-making, professionals in the arts are appointed to a variety of grants review panels. The function of panels is to evaluate applications from organizations and individuals and to offer policy recommendations to the Council. Each year, more than 100 individuals serve as grants review panelists for the Council’s programs. Anyone wishing to serve or to nominate someone to serve should contact the MSAC office for detailed information and nomination forms.
MARYLAND STATE ARTS COUNCIL
ARTS IN EDUCATION PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) established a program known as Artists in Schools in 1966, bringing artists-in-residence to schools to share their skills and expertise with students and teachers. The initiative evolved over the years into the present federal Arts in Education Program, which state arts agencies implement in every jurisdiction of the United States. In Maryland, funds for the AiE Program are provided by the MSAC’s budget and a federal grant from the NEA. Schools and other sponsoring organizations provide additional funding according to a matching formula that varies depending on the type of project and art form.

In 1985, a comprehensive state plan for arts education was developed cooperatively by the Maryland State Department of Education, Maryland Alliance for Arts Education, and MSAC. This plan articulated three goals:

- Strengthen discipline-based arts instruction through the development of sequential curricula and staffing by qualified teacher-specialists;
- Relate learning in all subjects by integrating the arts across the curriculum;
- Effectively use quality arts resources available outside of school systems to promote, strengthen, and enhance school-based programs.

Current initiatives in arts education reflect a concern for providing every student in Maryland an opportunity to learn in and through the arts. These skills and knowledge will reinforce 21st Century Learning needs. The Partnership for 21st Century Skills, a creative think tank composed of top business leaders and educators, states that certain skills are essential for the workplace of the 21st Century. Those skills include creative thinking, problem solving, collaboration, global awareness, and media management. All of these skills are reinforced by the arts, thus making the arts an essential element to any curriculum.

In 2008, the Maryland State Board of Education accepted The Voluntary State Curriculum in the Arts. This curriculum defines what students must know and be able to perform within the arts disciplines and across grade levels. In 2009, The Maryland State Department of Education redeveloped the Code of Maryland Regulations (COMAR) for the Fine Arts. COMAR ensures that students meet the content requirement for the Voluntary State Curriculum and ensures that students across the state receive equal access to fine arts instruction. Maryland school systems believe that partnerships are an essential ingredient in advancing the goal of improved arts instruction. Schools, cultural and community organizations, and artists are all working together to enhance the arts programs in Maryland schools. One key organization in these partnerships is the Arts Education in Maryland Schools Alliance (AEMS Alliance). Their efforts have led to a Maryland Arts Integration Network, the Maryland Artist Teacher Institute, a Teaching Artist
Maryland State Arts Council Artist-in-Residence & Visiting Performers Rosters

Institute, and many programs to support schools in bringing the arts to the forefront of the curriculum.

In September, 2013, Governor Martin O’Malley’s P-20 Leadership Council voted unanimously to have a statewide task force on arts education in Maryland schools. Dr. William E. (Brit) Kirwan, Chancellor of the University System of Maryland, made the initial motion to endorse and commented on the power of the arts in his life and the importance of the arts for all students. Co-chairing the task force was nationally known sculptor and founder of Arts Education in Maryland Schools (AEMS) Alliance, Mary Ann Mears, and Dr. Jack Smith, Deputy Superintendent at the Maryland State Department of Education. Governor O’Malley’s commitment to arts education was longstanding, and he was been recognized nationally with the prestigious Public Leadership in Arts Award. To continue Maryland’s standing as a national leader in education, the Governor wanted to ensure that all students have access to a quality education which includes the arts. Council members commented on the critical importance of creativity and innovation in the workforce and the need for students to have a creative edge in order to be globally competitive.

The task force was charged with creating a plan that ensures a quality arts education for all Maryland students. Specifically, the task force was asked to:

- Examine Maryland policies and regulations on arts curriculum and instruction in the context of the new standards in arts education so as to identify gaps and alignment needs;
- Determine the current status of arts education in Maryland schools;
- Review pertinent research on the impact of fine arts instruction on student success in school; and
- Make recommendations to the Governor’s P-20 Leadership Council regarding fine arts education in Maryland public schools to include (a) policy and regulations, (b) professional development, (c) curriculum and instruction, and (d) resource allocation.

The P-20 Task Force on Arts Education presented the final report to the Governor and the Council in September 2014. Governor O’Malley’s Leadership Council voted unanimously to accept the recommendations from his task force on arts education. The ten recommendations are based on the principles of equity and quality of arts education.

The full Task Force report can be downloaded here: http://www.aems-edu.org/PDFs/Task%20Force%20Final%20Report.pdf
Maryland State Arts Council Artist-in-Residence & Visiting Performers Rosters

Mission: The MSAC’s AiE Program is designed to promote, strengthen, and enhance the arts and arts education in Maryland’s elementary and secondary schools and other community settings. To accomplish its mission, the AiE Program:

- Identifies and provides access to educational arts resources available outside the school system
- Offers financial and technical support for artist residencies in schools and co-funds performances and other arts projects for the benefit of students, teachers, and communities
- Assists in the professional development of artists for in-school programs
- Stimulates support for integrating the arts as a vital and effective element in the curriculum

Program Components: Components of the Arts in Education program are:

- The AiE Visiting Performers Program provides opportunities for presentations of one or more performances, sometimes followed by workshop sessions for students in assembly programs or classrooms. Names of artists selected by the advisory panel to participate in the Visiting Performers Program are listed in the Visiting Performers Roster. Artists are selected for inclusion in the Visiting Performers Program on the basis of artistic achievement and ability to work with students and faculty in a school environment. For more information on the AiE Visiting Performers Program, visit the MSAC website at www.msac.org.

- The AiE Artists-in-Residence Program provides opportunities for hands-on intensive workshops involving a small core group of students and teachers over a number of days or weeks. A larger group benefits from additional activities including artists’ lectures and demonstrations and projects developed by classroom teachers with the artist’s assistance. Names of artists selected by the advisory panel to participate in the Artists-in-Residence Program are listed in the Artists-in-Residence Roster. Artists are selected for inclusion in the Artists-in-Residence Program on the basis of artistic achievement and ability to work with students and faculty in a school environment. Residencies are available in:
  - Performing Arts: dance, multi-discipline, music, puppetry, and theater
  - Playwriting
  - Poetry
  - Visual Arts: architecture, ceramics, dollmaking/puppetmaking, fiber arts, glass, handmade paper/books/artist books, media, mixed media, murals, photography, sculpture, site specific installation, and two dimensional art
Maryland State Arts Council Artist-in-Residence & Visiting Performers Rosters

- Artist Rosters: The Visiting Performers Roster and the Artists-in-Residence Roster are located at the MSAC website – www.msac.org. The rosters are searchable by criteria such as artist name, artistic category, geographic availability, etc. Artists wishing to be included on either roster should contact a member of the AiE staff.

- Community Arts Development/Arts in Education Program (CAD/AiE): County arts councils receive MSAC funds designated for AiE programs in their counties. The CAD/AiE Program is separate and distinct from the MSAC AiE Program, and is administered in each county by the county arts council. Contact your county arts council concerning the availability of CAD/AiE projects. The MSAC AiE staff is available to provide technical assistance as needed for CAD/AiE projects. Contact information for all Maryland county arts councils is available on the MSAC website – www.msac.org.
MSAC ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE APPLICATION PROCEDURE

New applicants are encouraged to contact Christine Stewart, Arts in Education Program Director, before submitting an application. Ms. Stewart may be contacted at 410-767-6476 or christine.stewart1@maryland.gov. Each school may submit only one application.

1. Identify a Site Coordinator for the school—this can be a teacher, administrator or the principal but MAY NOT BE PTA PERSONNEL. The Site Coordinator is responsible for arranging the residency details, meeting with the artist, monitoring the residency, and arranging payment. The Site Coordinator must also track the status of that payment; often just sending it to the accounts payable office is not sufficient.

2. Choose an artist by checking the artist-in-residency roster at http://www.msac.org/artists-in-residence-roster. You may search by name, discipline, or geographical region.

3. Contact the artist and discuss your plans. Because the school is responsible for 100% of the cost of any materials related to the residency, materials and their costs should be discussed with the artists you are considering. If they accept your offer, the artist will provide you with a confirmation code that must be entered into the eGRANT application. Note that the AiE staff cannot provide confirmation codes to school representatives.

4. Obtain travel information for your selected artist: mileage to and from your school, tolls, parking, hotel (subject to approval by AiE program director), etc. The mileage rate will be listed in the application but is subject to change.
   - To calculate mileage: # of miles to and from school from artists’ home X number of days of the residency = mileage
   - To calculate mileage cost: Mileage X .54 (current mileage rate, subject to change – check application)
   - For example: if the mileage is calculated as 20 miles RT X 5 days = 100 miles for the residency, then multiply 100 x .54 = $54.00. This amount would be entered in the mileage section of the travel budget.

Applications without a travel budget, or an indication in one of the fields that there is NO TRAVEL will not be accepted/approved. The Site Coordinator may also write ‘no travel’ on the application at the time of signature. This is rare, as there is always mileage.
5. Submit an eGRANT: eGRANT is MSAC’s online application system and may be accessed through MSAC’s website (http://www.msac.org/artists-in-residence-roster). Please contact your jurisdiction’s board of education to find out the school’s date of incorporation and federal identification number. If you are having problems finding out this information, contact MSAC at 410-767-6555. Leaving these fields blank may cause problems with eGRANT as you work on the application.

- If your school is new to the program, create a new login and password; returning users should use their previous login and password. If you are not sure if your school is a new or returning applicant, or if you cannot locate your school’s login and password, please contact MSAC at 410-767-6555 or msac@msac.org.

- You must click on the Submit My Application button and eGRANT must accept your application by 5:00 PM on May 13, 2016 to meet the deadline.

- You will receive an email from eGRANT stating that your application was successfully submitted. NOTE: Whoever is listed as the contact in your school’s eGRANT profile will receive the PDF by email. If you’re new, please change the profile by signing in and choosing ‘user info’ in the white toolbar menu at the top of the screen.

- Technical support for eGRANT is available during regular office hours, 8:00 AM through 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday.

6. Review materials and Awardees notification info: If the grant is awarded, you will receive an award letter in late August/early September with the invoice STAPLED to the letter, directed to the attention of the Site Coordinator who filled out the application. The school is responsible for the invoice. Do not separate it from the letter.

7. Meet with the artist and submit paperwork: Every residency has an Orientation meeting with the artist, at which time the Orientation Checklist is filled out by both teacher/staff and artist. At the end of the residency, the Meeting Evaluation form is filled out at another meeting between the teacher/staff and artist. The goals of the residency and whether or not they were met are discussed. This form is signed by all who participated. The artist files the Orientation Checklist and Meeting Evaluation and should not leave either form with the site coordinator to send in. A Final Report form is then filed by the school only, sent to the program director. If MSAC does not have this form on file in a timely manner, the school is ineligible for a residency the following year.
8. Pay for the residency: The deadline for payment for the residency is December 1, 2016 by 5:00 PM. If payment is not received by then the residency will be canceled. If the residency has already taken place, the school is ineligible the following year and payment is due immediately. If a school is unable to make payment by the deadline, the site coordinator must contact program director for an extension.

9. Publicize the residency: It is highly recommended that the school announce the residency and any unveiling of work/reception to the local press and provide that documentation to MSAC. Media exposure for the Arts in Education program promotes bigger and better budgets in subsequent years.

10. The school must submit the Final Report form, given by the artist in order to receive future funding.
Msac Aie Artists-in-Residence Program Requirements

Applicant Eligibility: In order to apply for an AiE residency, an applicant organization:

- Must have been both incorporated in Maryland as not-for-profit and have received tax exempt status from the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. Units of government (e.g., public schools, city/county recreation centers, etc.) are also eligible to apply.
- Must have paid their local match for all previous year’s residencies.
- Must have filed a final report for all previous year’s programs through both the Maryland State Arts Council’s Artists-in-Residence Program and Visiting Performers Program.

Please Note: Boards of education, parent teacher associations, and other entities may not submit an application on behalf of a school. The school must be the applicant and the information provided on the application must pertain to the school. To qualify for AiE funds, the school must provide adequate staff support for the artist, sufficient time for the artist to work with students during school hours, workspace that meets the artist’s requirements, materials and supplies needed for the residency program, and the local match of the residency’s cost from non-state, non-federal sources.

Site Coordinator: The site coordinator must be a teacher or principal from the school. Board of education, PTA, and other entities may not submit an application on behalf of the school. The site coordinator’s responsibilities include, but are not limited to, organizing and overseeing activities at the residency site; artist selection; planning; ordering materials; scheduling; monitoring; communicating with the artist, the school administration, and the AiE Program staff; and evaluation. A current email address and home phone number must be supplied for the site coordinator on the application form. Due to the volume of applications, schools may close for the year before all applications are reviewed. If this happens, the AiE staff may need to contact the site coordinator at home regarding application revisions.

Artist Information: Only those artists listed on the Artists-in-Residence Roster located at www.msac.org are eligible to participate in MSAC AiE funded residencies. A file of support materials (including resumes, slides, photographs, newspaper clippings, and other information) is maintained for all artists-in-residence. Files for all artists are available for review at the MSAC office by appointment.

Artist Selection: All residency applications must specify an artist and confirmation code for question 10. Applications that do not specify a residency artist and confirmation code for question 10 will be placed on the waiting list.
Confirmation Code: Each artist listed on the Artists-in-Residence Roster has been assigned a confirmation code. When a residency artist gives their confirmation code to a school representative, they are indicating that they have reviewed the residency’s goals, schedule, and budget with the site coordinator and are committed to the residency. PLEASE NOTE: The AiE staff cannot provide confirmation codes to school representatives. The name of the residency artist and their confirmation code must be provided for question 10.

Artist Status: The AiE artist’s status is that of a consultant and not a school employee; therefore, a member of the school community must be present at all times while the artist is working with the students. The teacher remains responsible for the class AT ALL TIMES – even when the artist is present. MSAC does not require AiE artists to undergo a criminal background check. If the school cannot have a member of the school community present at all times when the artist is working with the students, the residency will be canceled.

Core Groups: By definition, a residency involves an artist providing sequential learning workshops to students over a period of time. In order to better facilitate these workshops, the students are divided into core groups. A core group is defined as a group of 25-30 students maximum. A core group is not a grade. A residency will have one or several core groups depending on the number of students involved. For example: a fourth grade class of 100 students would be divided into four core groups of 25 students each. The number of students in the core groups may vary depending on the type of residency and the residency artist selected. As you interview artists for the residency, make sure that you clearly communicate your expectations regarding the number of students that will participate in the core groups. The number of sessions requested for the residency must allow each core group to receive the minimum number of workshop sessions as specified in the guidelines. A session is defined as approximately 50-60 minutes.

Materials: The school is responsible for 100% of the cost of any materials related to the residency. Materials and their costs should be discussed with the artists you are considering. DO NOT INCLUDE MATERIAL COSTS IN THE RESIDENCY APPLICATION BUDGET.

Application Review: Each application is reviewed for completeness. The site coordinator will be notified if revisions are necessary.

Notification: All schools will be notified by letter regarding the outcome of each residency application submitted. NOTIFICATION LETTERS WILL BE MAILED TO THE SITE COORDINATOR AT THEIR SCHOOL ADDRESS LATE AUGUST/EARLY SEPTEMBER. PLEASE ALERT THE SCHOOL STAFF TO EXPECT THIS LETTER AND TO PLACE IT IN THE APPROPRIATE MAILBOX WITHOUT DETACHING THE INVOICE.

Funded Residencies and Payment: For each funded residency, an invoice will be enclosed with the notification letter. The invoice will list the local match that the school must pay for the residency. The local match must be submitted to the AiE Program in the form of a check no later than December 1, 2016. Failure to submit the local match by December 1, 2016 may cause a forfeiture of the residency.

Non-Funded Residencies: All non-funded residency applications will be placed on a Waiting List. Residency applications on the Waiting List may be funded if additional residency money becomes available.

Final Report: At the completion of the residency, the site coordinator must complete and submit a final report. The final report is available on the MSAC website - www.msac.org. Failure to submit the final report may cause future residency applications to be declared ineligible.

Anna Menendez

Artist Overview

Ms. Menendez began studying Spanish dance at the age of nine with Maria Morales at the Peabody Conservatory, Preparatory Division in Baltimore, Maryland, and graduated with honors. She continued her studies in New York and Madrid, Spain, and is currently a professional Classical Spanish dancer and flamenco artist. Anna has performed with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra's educational programs, danced with the Washington Opera, and performed with Carmela Greco, daughter of the late Jose Greco, in Washington DC, Philadelphia, and Chicago.

Arianna Ross

Artist Overview
Using the threads of history unique to the lands Arianna has lived in and interweaving them with her experiences, her programs weave a lively fabric rich with stories of the past and present. She blends acrobatics, storytelling, and music to engage students in programs that entertain and enrich school curriculum. Since returning from three years with Bansi Kaul's troupe Rang Vidushak in Bhopal, India, she has performed for the Washington Storytellers' Theatre, NPR, and across the United States. She has performed at the International Children's Festival at Wolf Trap and works as an Artist-in-Residence for the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts' DC Community Partnership Program.

Technical needs: Need a quiet space with few distractions, minimum 12’ x 15’ space for the students to move around, a chalkboard, and a small table.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Enact history by telling its story. Using storytelling in the classroom has proven to be an empowering and educational tool for both the teller/teacher and the listener/student. Storytelling has shown to improve self confidence, literacy, and group dynamics. During the session teachers learn several activities that can be used to jump-start the creative mind and body, create a safe classroom environment, and deepen students' understanding of history and another culture. Walk away with an effective set of curriculum-based techniques that not only include the standards, but also increase students' love of learning.

Residency Description
Residency programs provide imaginative choices for creative language exploration, subject/content appreciation and an opportunity to learn the art of storytelling from a professional storyteller. A resident artist generates conditions to reinforce learning goals, behavioral expectations, and teaching methods within the context of an artistic environment. Residency programs include: teacher/artist planning meeting; initial demonstration performance; classroom orientation sessions; classroom methods session; information gathering/concept development; performance/story/product design; performance presentation/product completion; and, reflection/evaluation.

Technical/Space Needs: Classroom and rehearsal space scheduling is required. With more than 50 students in the project, an auditorium is required, along with a sound system and risers. Baba Jamal Koram should be assigned a space, such as part of the library or similar space, for planning and writing. Materials will be coordinated with classroom art and music teachers.

Residency Description
Ballet Theatre of Maryland's assembly program, "An American Journey Through Classical Dance" (Grades K-8) shows how American diversity has evolved classical ballet. Students will analyze similarities and differences in steps and movement styles from various cultures and how they can be expressed through classical dance. They will explore dances of various subcultures and time periods in American history such as Hispanic, African-American, and Native American. "Medieval Fair" (Grades 1-8) is another assembly program that introduces students to traditional medieval entertainment. They will participate in simulated stage combat, dance, and customs of the time.

Baltimore Dance Crews Project

Artist Overview
Baltimore Dance Crews Project (BDCP) believes that dance allows students to elevate expectations of themselves to become successful young community members that can achieve greatness. As co-founder of BDCP, Cynthia Chavez hopes to not only help students recognize their full potential, but also foster positive relationships to strengthen communities through Hip-Hop dance Artist Statement: “Don’t do it with us. We want to see if we can do this on our own.” The sense of accomplishment when students ask me to step aside to show what they have learned reinforces the importance of arts integration. Through dance, students gain leadership and positive relationships.

Residency Description
The Engineering of a Puppet Show is an intense curriculum based program linking the design, construction and presentation of puppet shows to art, research, planning, presentation, and writing skills. It applies an engineer's methods of goal setting, time management, and teamwork to the creative process. Students make puppets, sets, props, and stages from simple materials and perform stories based on scripts written in the classroom. Many curriculum outcomes and indicators for Social Studies, Reading, Writing/Language Usage, and the Arts are achieved in accessible cultural and social contexts.

Residency needs: Materials are provided by Black Cherry Puppet Theater and are incorporated in the residency cost. Need large space with tables and access to a sink.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Hands on arts integration workshops exploring strategies for implementing Maryland State Department of Education Performance Outcomes and Indicators in the classroom through making and performing with puppets. Company artists also do short in service programs on making and using papier mache in the classroom.

Residency Description
In "Puppets Tell A Tale," students learn how to take a folktale, poem, or original story and bring it to life with puppets. Carolyn guides students in creating interesting characters from found materials and adding simple props and scenery to explain where and when things happen in the story. In "Create a Puppet World," students explore the unique qualities of puppets by bringing an environment to life. Choices include the ocean, Chesapeake Bay, a rain forest, Antarctica, or another planet. Students figure out what puppets, props, and scenery they will need for their world and how they will make them.

Residency needs: The performance space must be at least 12’ x 12’, indoors, and away from interference and noise. A stage or raised platform is ideal. An electrical outlet must be within 15 feet of the performing area.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Carolyn's enthusiastic approach to teaching cooperative learning and creative problem solving strategies will inspire teachers to challenge their students to use their higher level thinking skills through puppetry. Carolyn can create a customized workshop to meet your school’s needs.

Chris August

Artist Overview

For over ten years, Chris August worked as a special educator in and around Baltimore city. During this time, he spent all of his free moments writing poetry and traveling the country to perform it. Over that time, he became involved in the national slam poetry community, which challenges writers to take their poetic works to the stage, competing with performance-ready versions of their best work. Chris has been a member of seven nationally competitive performance poetry teams, and was named the number one slam poet in the world at the 2011 Individual World Poetry Slam held in Cleveland, Ohio.

Residency Description

Chris August's school residencies are centered on the creation of at least one poem and its subsequent performance. At least one day is spent utilizing writing prompts to inspire new work and, if applicable, looking over existing work. Students spend the remainder of the residency working collaboratively to edit and perform their pieces. The residency culminates in a student reading that can be as open or closed as students and staff would like. When time allows, this performance is done in the style of a traditional poetry slam competition. Chris also works with special populations: Autism, phys. disability, traumatic brain injury, emotional disturbances. Gifted/talented students.

ClancyWorks Dance Company

Artist Overview
The ClancyWorks Dance Company (CWDC) is a collective of performing artists directed by Adrienne Clancy. Company members have more than seventeen years of dance and choreographic experience and have held major choreographic, performance, and administrative positions in numerous nationally recognized companies, festivals, and universities. Specific to Clancy's creative process is an exploration of architecturally informed partnering work that is developed with a group of diverse dancers. Her company's approach to partnering is simultaneously dynamic and sensitive; highly physical yet at the same time extremely human. Central to the mission of CWDC is the use of dynamic people partnering in order to exemplify an environment of mutual respect and to create empowering images that embrace diversity and build community.

Residency Description
A sample residency would follow this schedule: day one would include an informal performance to introduce company members, and two artists would meet with two core classes (the artists will meet with these classes each day during the residency). Day two would start with an open studio warm-up and then the two core classes would meet followed by one peripheral class. Day three would follow the same schedule, but would also include professional development workshops for teachers. Day four would follow the same schedule as day two, and day five would include the core classes and the three peripheral classes together showing the work they made during the week, followed by a debrief and next steps' planning for teachers and relevant staff at school.

Performance needs: Water for five artists. A clear space of at least 20' x 20', at least 10' clearance from edge of performance space to first audience row, one hand-held microphone, sound system with CD playback, parking for two cars. For workshops: a clear space of at least 20' x 20' and portable sound system with CD playback.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
The Power of Metaphor: tools for decoding a curriculum unit for its movement metaphor potential, and how to structure a Movement Lesson plan for that curriculum unit. Participants will learn a particular unit, and will learn tools for application to other units of study. Participants will hear about and practice the tools and processes. Text and Movement: a unique approach to combining written word, storytelling, spoken word, and movement as a tool for deepening students' access to text, from science to Shakespeare. Participants will practice highlighted tools and processes.

Performance Description
Meet Grandmother Mims as she searches through the old trunk in her attic in "My Grandmother Told Me: A Tribute to Black Women" (Grades 3-12). Each item she pulls out sparks a memory of days past and of courageous Black women and their struggles to be free, to vote, and to get an education. Using monologues, poetry, and songs, Debra leads the audience in this highly interactive walk through an important part of America’s history. In “Grandma’s Cautionary Tales” (Grades 1-8) Grandmother Sally Kathryn Mims returns to tell stories her grandmother told her. This time she tells an entertaining mix of ghost, folk, and “cautionary” tales found in African, African-American, and Caribbean literature. The stories engage the audience in an entertaining and interactive style. Most important, the audience learns a moral or lesson from the stories.

Residency Description
Teachers and students find natural connections between music and different subject areas by engaging in a deep understanding of the elements of music—including form, rhythm, dynamics, sound quality, and texture. Reading comprehension and math skills are enhanced when students create original instrumental compositions to convey the mood of a story, when they compose original chants that reflect the main idea of a story and create rhythmic patterns that show common multiples. Students prepare short performances using body percussion and learn how to incorporate the elements of music to make reading more expressive. This residence incorporates 21st Century Skills, such as critical thinking and collaboration.

Technical needs: There should be space for the students to move, work in small groups and present mini-performances. The floor should be clean to allow them to sit.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
During an interactive workshop, teachers learn ways to incorporate music in their teaching in order to make their lessons more engaging.

Residency Description
Residencies and workshops are student-centered and participatory and are conducted in an engaging, lively manner. Students experience a complete approach to storytelling, which includes visual, spoken/written, and physical activities. They are also introduced to different storytelling genres: folk tales, fairy tales, legends, poems, historical narratives, and personal stories. The craft of storytelling must be shared if we are going to preserve a tradition that perpetuates hope, justice, and community.

Technical/Space Needs: A small table or desk and chalkboard. The workshop can be conducted in a classroom or music room. Large spaces, such as a cafeteria or gym are not preferred.
Maryland State Arts Council Artist-in-Residence & Visiting Performers Rosters

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Teacher training is designed to ease teachers into seeing themselves as storytellers, using storytelling to enrich the classroom experience for the students. Resources are provided in the form of handouts and a "loaned library" of literature about storytelling in the classroom. Teachers are on their feet for most of the training, since the guiding principle is: if you don't experience it, you can't teach it. Warm-ups and other activities are tailored for use by the teachers as soon as they return to the classroom. When teachers are storytellers, the impact and power of storytelling grows exponentially.

Dovie Thomason
Artist Overview
Ms. Thomason's traditional storytelling celebrates her Lakota & Kiowa Apache ("Plains Indians") cultures, as well as the Woodlands Iroquois and Algonquian cultures who trained her. Stories teach respect for other cultures and inspire delight in the Spoken Word. Thomason's a former teacher and a master of her craft who profoundly believes that fluency with spoken word and active listening skills are perhaps the most powerful tools we can bring to our students’ competence with both oral and written language projects. This Literacy By Word of Mouth process enriches language arts, social studies, earth sciences, and student and teacher verbal confidence.

Residency Description
Residencies focus on the traditional cultural art of storytelling from the artist's Native American (Lakota and Kiowa Apache and Iroquis “adopted”) cultures. Curriculum connections include social studies, American history, science, and language arts. Residencies emphasize story crafting and storytelling techniques, building curriculum connections, and supporting literacy. Trained teachers become "storyteller models" and coaches using critical story craft review techniques, enabling additional oral presentation and writing time between the artist's visits. Final objectives can be oral performances or written stories, depending upon residency length and school's goals. (Minimum residency is 6 days, with minimum 4 workshops per core class for grades 4+)

Workshop needs: Access to blackboard/whiteboard/smart board for brainstorming and visual mapping of stories. Classroom space is adequate, though students will need enough space to be able to work in small groups (generally 3) and still be able to speak and hear clearly.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Depending on school/grade level curriculum and goals, teachers often need enrichment resources on specific Native cultures, often by region. Thomason has deep connections to her own Plains cultures, as well as Eastern Woodlands cultures. She's developed workshops to evaluate educational materials and projects for cultural accuracy and respect frequently requested by conferences, libraries, and educators. Teachers and schools can request additional intensive training in the Literacy by Word of Mouth techniques that enhance writing instruction. Some workshop time in all residencies is used to train teachers in the basics of the peer review critique process learned by their students.

Gayle Danley

Artist Overview
Soon after earning a Master's Degree in Radio, Television and Film from Syracuse University, Ms. Danley discovered Slam poetry. Embracing this stimulating art form, she immediately won the 1994 National Individual Slam Poet Competition and followed that success by becoming the 1996 International Slam Poet Champion. Ms. Danley was featured on CBS' 60 Minutes in 1999 and has published three books: Naked, Soulfull-A Slam Poetry Study Guide, and Passionate-Poems You Can Feel. Ms. Danley's style combines movement and emotion as she performs her magic on the audience, sweeping them up in her words as she addresses and explores contemporary issues.

Hot Horns

Artist Overview

Hot Horns (formerly Bay Street Brassworks) received first prize at the 2003 New York Quintet Competition. Founded in 1995, this brass quintet performs a wide variety of musical genres. Hot Horns has cooperative relationships with a number of Young Audiences organizations, which allows them to provide both educational and concert opportunities. The musicians spend a considerable amount of time encouraging young brass players. The range of musical abilities has produced engagements from formal concert series to opening ceremonies for the Baltimore Orioles Baseball team and Arlington, Virginia's Bicentennial celebration. Hot Horns has toured in the U.S. and performed for packed concert halls during a 1999 Korean tour.

Imani Gonzalez

Artist Overview
As a jazz/world vocalist, Imani's diverse talents have led to collaborations with many music ensembles, as well as film and television projects. Most notably, her voice was featured on the musical soundtrack of the film, "The Jane Biography" and on many National Geographic Television Explorer Series soundtracks. Since 1989, Imani continues to be the first and only American to be a company member and tour with the traditional Ghanaian ensemble Yacub Addy and ODADAA. She is a workshop leader for the Kennedy Center Partners-in-Education National Touring Program and recently performed with Wynton Marsalis and the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra. Imani has published two children's world music books entitled DHIMIKI and IYIPO AYE with sing-a-long CDs.

Residency Description
Global Voices with Imani introduces traditional world music and song as a tool to understanding the interrelationship of sound, voice, and culture. Students will learn song forms drawn from traditions around the world, participate with hand percussive instruments, call-and-response, and vocal improvisations. They will travel through the cultures of India, Korea, Asia, Ghana, Mali, Senegal, West Africa, Zimbabwe, South Africa, Brazil, South America, and Afro Cuba -- the Caribbean. Through the use of sounds, songs, stories, rhythms, and class participation, the students begin to respect, appreciate, and understand the richness of other cultures.

Technical needs: Medium-sized, open space; participants seated in a semi-circular arrangement; LCD projector; CD player.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Imani introduces teachers to the richness of the cultures of India, Senegambia (a West African region) and Brazil through children's songs, rhythms, and games. Through these songs, teachers learn about the lifestyles and values of children in faraway countries and come to appreciate the similarities and differences between these cultures and their own. This workshop provides links to the National Standards, objectives, and benchmarks. Imani shows you how to teach the songs and activities to students. DHIMIKI, a compact disc and book containing lyrics and background information on the cultures along with a Teacher Study Guide, is available for classroom use.

Lesole’s Dance Project

Artist Overview
Lesole Zachariah Maine was born in Sebokeng, South Africa. This small township just outside of Johannesburg, rich in diversity, culture, and tradition, was an environment where he recognized his love of dance and appreciation for the many ethnic customs taking place around him. Fluent in more than three languages, Lesole is able to use his heritage to enhance his performances. In 1995, he was awarded a scholarship to study with Johannesburg-based Moving Into Dance Company, where studied Contemporary, Jazz, Afrofusion, Modern, Ballet, Jive, Hip Hop, Traditional, and Modern South African dance. After graduating from the Community Dance Teaching Course, Lesole was offered a position as a dancer and teacher in 1997. He has since traveled around the world (Canada, Cote d’Ivoire, Croatia, France, Holland, Jordan, Lesotho, Malaysia, Nigeria, Portugal, Switzerland and various cities in the United States).

Magical Experiences Arts Company

Artist Overview
MEAC is directed by Joanne Lewis-Margolius, who founded the company in 1986. Trained in both the visual and performing arts, Ms. Margolius has worked worldwide with special education populations. She has also taught master-classes in Expressionistic Mime in both America and Europe. Although originally based in London, England, she relocated to America in 1994, bringing with her the innovative and ground-breaking Magical Experiences Arts Company. Each year Joanne is joined by three performers trained in her technique.

Residency Description
MEAC presents its interactive performances in schools and treatment centers serving the needs of children and adolescents with disabilities. Using a combination of mime, music, theatrical effects and relaxation therapy, each performance provides the participants with a safe setting to explore feelings and develop their self-expression skills. Providing full access to the arts, each session will allow all students an opportunity to experience and enjoy the magic of theater. MEAC presents fifteen plays, ranging in subject from fairytale fantasies to historical dramas.
Maryland State Arts Council Artist–in-Residence & Visiting Performers Rosters

Technical/Space Needs: MEAC will work in any space provided, including a classroom, resource room, or gym. MAC performers will move furniture to the walls to open up a space. It is preferred that the area be quiet and able to be closed off from school traffic. Materials Needed: All materials provided by MEAC except floor mats (3-5 required).

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
During each residency performance, school staff are encouraged to participate in the experience, learning hands-on how the arts can enhance the lives of their students. Teachers/aides and therapists are provided with pre-performance information packages, explaining their role in the workshops, outlining their duties during the one-hour sessions. Additional training is offered twice a year at two sites (open to all special educators), to encourage staff to continue the work of MEAC outside the performance.

Mark Jaster

Artist Overview
Mr. Jaster is a performing artist trained in mime by twentieth-century masters Etienne Decroux and Marcel Marceau. He believes that performance is fundamental to human culture and that humor can be a balm to the spirit. He believes, too, in the power of the imagination to shape the world. Great art belongs everywhere. Part of his work is to bring great mime to schools. In school residencies he seeks to engage students and teachers in the creative process, to expand their expressive vocabulary, to place mime in context of its history and of the other arts, and to bring joy.

GRADE LEVEL: All Grades

Residency Description
A typical elementary school residency begins with a pair of all-school assemblies (students divided by age) followed by a series of three or four 40-minute classroom sessions over the course of a week with a target group (e.g., all 4th grade classes). Each session introduces a set of techniques and concepts which are then applied creatively by students in routines shared with the class (strongest curricular links to writing). Typical residencies culminate in an informal evening performance for the school community, including artist performance and simple demonstrations of material from classroom sessions by student volunteers.

Technical/Space Needs: A stage is best as a performance area for assemblies; workshop sessions take place in classrooms (sometimes we move desks aside).

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
A shared set of creative, playful exercises in physical expression with a discussion of possible curricular applications.

Performance Description

In "Hooked on Books," (Grades K-5) Mr. Jones, a mild-mannered "everyman," sits down to enjoy an afternoon television program. He is interrupted by a public service announcement that makes him aware of the epic battle between TV and reading. By reading books and applying trial and error, he learns reading is a fun, exciting way to gain new skills, see new places, meet new people, and experience more channels than any TV could ever have. Watch as Mr. Jones discovers a new interactive passion - reading. “Classic Comedy” (Grades K-8) is a fun and exciting show with underlying educational themes. This action-packed performance includes slapstick, juggling, plate-spinning, and more and is based on the “if at first you don't succeed, try, try again” theory. Mr. Jones' creative problem solving skills will leave them howling with laughter.

Max Bent

Artist Overview
Max Bent makes music with his mouth. Beat boxing is the vocal art of producing percussive and melodic elements simultaneously using the mouth, tongue, sinus cavity, etc. Max has 22 years of beat boxing experience and has performed widely in both the real and virtual world. He is best known for his tutorial videos on the popular beat box website www.beatbox.TV. Max provided musical accompaniment for the Bethesda dance festival and was a featured beat boxer on Verizon's beat box mixer. He organized the 2003 DC beat box expo and released a successful beat box themed DVD entitled Foundations. Max is currently developing a beat boxing program for middle school and high school students in Baltimore, MD.

Residency Description
Outside the Box: Beatboxing 101: In this music-focused residency, students learn the fundamental techniques of the vocal art form called beatboxing. Students learn to make drum sounds, sound effects and emulate various instruments. Then they discover the secret magic behind bringing all the pieces together into a beatbox performance! The Elements of Music are explored. Written notation is addressed through a special tool called the "Rhythm Chart." Creative collaboration is emphasized throughout the workshop. Beatboxing 101 is a great choice for music classrooms and core subject classrooms alike. Outside the Box: The Math Music Connection: Research clearly shows that the brain processes behind making music and using math are highly interwoven. In this residency, students will explore a new side of the math they already know. The vehicle for achieving this new perspective? The beat. Beatboxing, the highly popular vocal art form that combines human produced drums with other vocalizations, is the perfect tool for understanding math concepts like adding and subtracting fractions, graphing, matrices, sequences, and many other challenging concepts. Students learn to compose and perform beatbox patterns while simultaneously making math connections.

Technical/Space Needs: The residencies work best in a central location (e.g. a cafeteria) where classes can come and use the sound system and then return to class.

MiMi Zannino

Artist Overview
MiMi Zannino brings literature and history to life in her colorful, energetic role as American poet, Emily Dickinson. Her theatrical monologue is accessible and models skills for research, writing and speaking. Students question her about process and performance to help them become effective writers and communicators. MiMi Zannino performs throughout the Mid-Atlantic region in the solo show she researched and wrote: Time-Travel with Emily Dickinson. As a 2014 Chautauqua scholar/actor, she engaged audiences from Garrett County to Talbot County for the Maryland Humanities Council living history performance series. She has three certificates from the Teaching Artist Institute, and holds degrees from The Johns Hopkins University and Towson University. MiMi has worked with thousands of students and teachers as a poet-in-residence through the Maryland State Arts Council, helping young writers publish anthologies and practice speaking skills. She is a former Maryland Coordinator for the Poetry Out Loud national recitation program and coached high school students in preparation for the contests. Photo credit: Alan Cutler

Residency Description
Creating Your Own Opera - Singing A Story, (grades 3-8). By demystifying opera and demonstrating that opera, at its core, is singing the story, (a big song), students actively learn and demonstrate the basic music principles needed to create an opera. Exploring Character Through Drama, (grades 2-8) focuses on building inference and empathy by applying drama skills to literature. Students learn how actors create characters and relationships, and how conflict and resolution impact a story. By assuming another character's point of view, students bring the stories to life, drawing inferences about the characters and situations not expressly stated in the text.

Noa Baum

Artist Overview
Israeli-born Noa Baum is an internationally acclaimed storyteller who uses her mesmerizing voice, impeccable timing, and warm authenticity to captivate audiences and confront important topics, such as bullying and intolerance. Noa shares stories from diverse cultures and her own rich Jewish heritage to highlight our similarities and celebrate our differences. Trained in theater and education at New York University, Noa is a Parents’ Choice Award winner and recipient of numerous awards from the Maryland State Arts Council and the Montgomery County Arts Council.
Residency Description
Students explore the magic of storytelling and the power of speaking and listening with dynamic activities and creative dramatics. Residency programs explore the art of storytelling and the power of spoken language as a tool to develop students' creative thinking and writing skills. Noa offers an interdisciplinary interactive approach exploring a story from world folklore, utilizing creative drama, writing and drawing. Activities emphasize students' self-expression, cooperation and community building. Students enjoy interactive discussions with dynamic activities and creative dramas demonstrating how to tell a story, develop writing skills, and learn work on teamwork and cooperation.

Technical/Space Needs: Residency- classroom space with desks and chairs moved to create open space. Assembly-microphone on stand, audience in semi-circle. Teacher workshop- large space with room to move.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
The Art of Storytelling offers techniques to take a story off the page and bring it to life as well as how to utilize a story to support curriculum. Participants are taught simple steps to learn and remember a story; what makes children want to listen and stay engaged; how telling stories can help teach and build community. Storytelling to Support Learning Standards offers storytelling games and activities that the teachers can use to help students develop imagination and creative thinking; support self-expression and confidence; enhance vocabulary and use of spoken and written language; promote concentration and listening skills.

Ras Tre Subira

Artist Overview
Ras Tre Subira is an award-winning photographer/ filmmaker and educator with over 12 years of experience teaching and producing films with youth. Programs combine photography, videography, creative writing, storytelling and acting together to create youth-led ‘edutainment’ programs that explore issues of identity, environment, culture, and youth leadership. Artist Statement: In a world in which media technology is increasingly becoming the dominant format of communication, it is vitally important that youth be developed as media producers as opposed to mere media consumers, equipped with the technical and creative skills to express their worldview using imagery, words, sounds, music and motion to convey meaning.

Residency Description
Shizumi's residency can incorporate any of the following aspects of Japanese culture: traditional Japanese dance, drama, music, poetry (Haiku and Waka), folktales, samurai swordsmanship, visual arts (origami and calligraphy) and elements of a traditional tea ceremony. Her performance pieces demonstrate how the Japanese have managed to integrate art and the appreciation of it into all aspects of life. An elaborately detailed kimono can be both a functional article of clothing and a piece of museum quality art. Students experience overall the art and culture of Japan.

Technical/Space Needs: A classroom and open space for dance like a gym or cafeteria, and large enough for the movements of swordsmanship. Materials Needed: Origami paper for each student, full-sized newspaper, bamboo or watercolor brush, black ink or watercolor black paint, paper (Japanese rice).

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Through demonstration, teachers will learn how to teach students traditional dance and stylized drama from ancient to modern Japan; simple origami art and how to use brush strokes; and, the aspect beauty of Japanese kimono as art, how to dress and how to develop.

Skher Brown

Artist Overview
Contramestre Skher is the FICA-Baltimore president and head instructor. He has been dedicated to Capoeira Angola since 1994. During his early twenties, Skher met his now world renowned teacher—Mestre Cobra Mansa—while in search of a deeper connection to African culture. This meeting began his lifelong apprenticeship and induction into a five-generation lineage of Capoeira Angola that spans back into the 1800s. Skher has trained primarily under Mestre Cobra, but has also received extensive mentoring from Mestres Jurandir Nascimento and Valmir Santos Damasceno of FICA. As well, he has journeyed many times to Brazil to experience the culture, language, and community that gives expression to Capoeira Angola. Through his travels he has gained respect in Brazil and abroad. Consequently, in August 2013 Mestre Cobra Mansa awarded him the title of contramestre—the second highest title in capoeira, which is rarely bestowed to non-Brazilian born practitioners.

Residency Description
Capoeira Angola is an age-old fight game which combines dance, play, ritual, and martial arts. It was developed by Africans enslaved in Brazil for mental, physical, spiritual, and cultural inspiration in the struggle for liberation. Today this incredibly deep and dynamic art form lives on in a variety of contexts, including as an educational tool, as a personal practice for fitness/personal well-being, and as a collective cultural expression of community strength and unity. Students are taught the basics of the Capoeira Angola tradition as an interactive knowledge system in social studies. They will engage effectively in (grade-level appropriate) collaborative discussions on featured capoeira related topics and themes including Diaspora; Lineage; Legacy; Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade; and Cultural Resistance. Sessions are comprised of two major components: a) Physical Movement and Music Practice and b) Structured Talking Rodas (Circles). The talking rodas incorporate oral storytelling traditions and folklore. Auxiliary components may include artwork, performance and presentations, and reading and writing activities.

Residency Description
Exploring the Roots of American Folk Music combines a concert of participatory songs and stories about our multicultural roots with workshops where students try various instruments and learn folk dances in preparation for an all-school hoedown. The Peaceweavers residency begins with a concert of "Peace Songs and Stories from Around the World" and students are invited to try several world folk instruments and use their imaginations to create stories. Workshops in art, music, and dance give students an opportunity to weave and create a "Vision of Peace," a four to six feet in diameter "Peace Wheel" given to the school by the students at the final performance.

Technical/Space Needs: A stage or performance area set back from the audience 10-15 feet. Chairs or benches for 12 student participants at a time. Two adult size chairs and two tables 6-8 feet long. Artists provide PA system and microphones. Materials Needed: Peaceweavers materials are provided by artists, but students can bring cloth strips, ribbons, yarn, etc.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Teacher training workshops are available with or without a residency program. Teacher workshops give an overview of the Roots of American Folk Music and its relation to classroom curriculum including social studies/history, multicultural awareness, geography, math, science, literature, music, art, and physical education. Teachers are encouraged to try out several American and world folk instruments and join in some simple folk dances that demonstrate various curriculum concepts. A teacher’s guide is available with several follow-up ideas for the classroom.

Ssuuna
Artist Overview
Dancer, drummer, singer, songwriter, storyteller, Daniel Ssuuna was born and raised in Uganda. As a child, Ssuuna found comfort in traditional Ugandan music played in school and in his grandparents' proverbs, stories, and instrumentation, which seemed to alleviate the poverty, hunger, and suffering caused by civil wars and political turmoil. In addition to having delighted and educated school audiences about life in East Africa, Maryland, Virginia, and Washington, D.C., Ssuuna has performed at The World Bank, The Kennedy Center, the Smithsonian, and on numerous college campuses around the country. In 2008, Ssuuna was named YA National Artist of the Year.

Residency Description
Adventures in Rhythm: In this residency, students gain a deeper understanding of playing and notating rhythms and the science of sound. Students experience performing through drumming and singing. In addition to body percussion and call-and-response exercises, each student will learn how to play a bucket with mallets*. Students will learn and express their knowledge of the physics of sound waves, and get creative by altering their “instrument,” with given supplies to change its sound. Students finish the program with a performance, singing and playing buckets and shakers to songs like, “I Feel Good” by James Brown.

Technical/Space needs: Artist will provide Sound, unless full-Sound System is available… 20X20 performance space… 6 to 8 – chairs for stage (student-participation) can work around this if not available…(this Assembly is best suited for Gymnasium, [Lunch-Room], Music Room, or Performance Hall. For Residencies: Need a room where the sound will not disturb other classes.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Steve discusses & demonstrates inter-actively, with various hand percussion, buckets/mallets, and a world map, the techniques he uses to make connections to Math, Science, and History…using rhythmic rudiments, patterns, singing, body percussion, (hand claps, hands-on-knees, feet) and the instruments themselves.

Sue Trainor

Artist Overview
Ms. Trainor is an award-winning performing-songwriter and recording artist with the trio Hot Soup. Her gift for motivating and inspiring creativity led her to work in schools through MSAC (1997), Wolf Trap (2003), and Montgomery County’s AIE roster (2007). She earned the Maryland Teaching Artist Institute certificate (TAI, 2007) and is now on the TAI teaching staff. She served on staff for the Maryland Artist/Teacher Institute (2002, 2006) and the Very Special Arts Artist Retreats (2003-2006), both presented in part by the Maryland Department of Education. Sue also is certified to offer in-service programs for Maryland preschool and day care providers.

Residency Description
Language Arts and Music VSCs are naturally integrated into Songwriting assemblies (Grades K-5) and residencies (Grades 2 and up). Writing song lyrics is an effective strategy through which students practice organizing ideas and information (summarizing, finding the main point, outlining supporting details, staying on topic) as well as express themselves creatively (the use of figurative language). In this songwriting model, melody is composed and rhythm chosen by extending students' use of language, focusing specifically on the changes in meaning introduced by variations in intonation and emphasis.

Technical/Space Needs: Workshops can be presented in closed classroom or the music room. Blackboard space is desirable. Clear floor space (large enough for students to sit in two adjacent circles) is needed.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
MUSIC IS GLUE FOR YOUR BRAIN: Effective Teaching Songs. This hands-on workshop offers a practical strategy for non-musicians to use when choosing and creating songs that teach - especially songs that support literacy objectives, behavior management, and multiple learning styles. Qualifies for a Maryland Child Care Continuing Education credit. GOOD VIBRATIONS: Using Music to Connect with Young Children. Songs are “whole brain” communicators that create emotional connection with young and old. Participants will expand their repertoires of songs and song strategies that support physical, visual, and aural play. Participants need not consider themselves to be musically adept; empowerment is included.

Synetic Theater

Artist Overview
Artistic Director Paata Tsikurishvili has created one of the only professional pantomime theatre repertories for youth in the United States. He uses Georgian (former Republic of the Soviet Union) pantomime traditions, combined with dance, clowning, and music, to create a professional pantomime repertoire for all ages. Paata Tsikurishvili and Resident Choreographer, Irina Tsikurishvili, have, between them, been nominated twelve times for the prestigious Helen Hayes Awards in Washington, DC. Irina has won four times for Choreography and Paata has twice won Best Director and Best Resident Play.

Residency Description
Because poetry has been defined as experience captured in language, students are taught to write in a "hands-on" manner in my workshops: They examine how language in various styles of poetry is used to create imagery, rhythm, sound, and emotion, and discuss how elements of poetry, i.e., onomatopoeia, alliteration, metaphor, simile, rhyme, etc., further this process so that students thoroughly understand how poetry works. Students also learn techniques to engage the imagination so they know how to approach writing their own poems; and finally, they receive backgrounds on poets they read in class. Sample state curriculum standards that Adele's residencies meet for grades 9-12: STANDARD 1: The student will comprehend and interpret a variety of print, non-print and electronic texts, and other media. INDICATOR 1.2: The student will comprehend and interpret a variety of texts, including fiction, nonfiction, poetry, drama, and informational texts (e.g., articles, editorials, essays, speeches, literary criticism STANDARD 2: The student will analyze and evaluate a variety of print, non-print and electronic texts, and other media. INDICATOR 2.1: The student will analyze and evaluate a variety of texts, including fiction, nonfiction, poetry, drama, and informational texts. STANDARD 3: The student will compose in a variety of modes by developing content, employing specific forms, and selecting language appropriate for a particular audience and purpose. INDICATOR 3.2: The student will compose texts using the prewriting, drafting, revising, and editing strategies of effective writers and speakers.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
"Revising Children's Poems" is a series of workshops that occur at the conclusion of the residency. Teachers put theory into practice as they learn to discern the difference between using language to create versus using language to describe. Participants receive guidelines to help them understand the process of creative, i.e., how they can use language in a manner that is precise enough to create an image, rhythm and music, or stir emotions. Teachers are given poems to edit, rewrite, and read with time set aside for them to discuss the reasons for revisions. The goal is to help teachers be better guides for their student poets.

Residency Description
Students in Grades 1-12 are stimulated to write original poetry by using various exercises. Most student poetry is described as free verse (as opposed to verse in traditional forms), although some discussion and practice is devoted to poetic devices such as simile, metaphor, alliteration, onomatopoeia, the five senses, and creative shape poems.
Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Workshops for teachers of grades 1 through 12 demonstrate various ways and exercises that can inspire their students to write original poetry. Teachers also participate in writing original poetry.

Residency Description
Residencies are custom designed to meet each school's individual needs. Typically, a residency includes four or five teaching sessions with three or four groups. Each session focuses on a particular poetic technique, offering students the opportunity to hear and read model poems, followed by an innovative writing exercise. Students produce one poem or more per session, exposing them to a variety of forms, including dramatic monologues, dialogue poems, family portraits, odes, homages and riddles. Model poems and exercises may incorporate relevant curricular themes if the school wishes. A public reading of student poetry, an anthology, or a special workshop concludes the residency.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Ms. Rees is happy to design workshops that meet the teachers' needs and interests. Successful in either introducing or concluding a residency, her teacher workshops present a wide range of poetry models and exercises, as well as strategies for making poetry accessible and fun for students and teachers alike. Time is given for teachers to try one or two of the writing exercises themselves, and for follow-up discussion. Recommended assignments, books, websites and other educational resources are supplied.

Residency Description
Students are busy listening, reading, and writing during the residency. Using contemporary poems as models, we write every day. Lessons can be adapted to the individual needs and skills of a class, but might include working with poetic forms, using simile, sensory poems, and wordplay. If time allows, students may choose a poem to work on more deeply. After the residency, classes often compile their favorite revised pieces for a book of poems. Families may be invited to attend a class poetry reading.

Residency Description

A typical residency includes meeting with three or four classes of students (perhaps all the 5th grades at a particular school) for four or five sessions each. Students hear, read, and experience poetry from different times and cultures and through those models enrich their own language and means of self-expression. The artist brings in objects that appeal to the senses and that help lift poetry off the page. Each workshop is a discreet unit, so students who miss one session will not be lost. Different learning styles are shared with the students in the hope that each will respond to something.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided

Teacher training workshops can be conducted either before or after a residency. Prior to the start of one residency, two and a half hours were spent with the third grade teachers. They tried out some of the same exercises as their students and had the opportunity to ask questions and express their own discomfort with themselves as writers. This paved the way for a richer, more productive residency. Even a 45-minute or hour long teacher workshop is a wonderful tool and can be successful in introducing a residency or in concluding one.

Residency Description
During a typical residency five different forms of poetry are presented and the students are given the opportunity to write a poem in each form. In addition to the structure of each form (couplet, haiku, free verse, etc.) the importance of detail in poetry is emphasized and the students are given an opportunity to practice this skill through the use of imagination and senses. Frequently a book of student poetry is distributed at the follow-up activity. Teachers are encouraged to spend one additional class period with the students to help them revise their favorite poem so it can be included in the publication or assign it as homework. It is quite remarkable to watch the students present their poems and share their sense of pride.

Technical/Space Needs: A quiet space/room where the students will be able to concentrate. Material Needs: At least 5 sheets of writing paper per student, a blackboard, and chalk (an easel with paper may be substituted for a blackboard.

Residency Description

Through the use of photography and visual arts, this residency allows students the opportunity to be creative and expressive in non-traditional ways. Students make connections to school, their environment, their community, and the arts; which ultimately results in a final photo or art exhibit. Accepting abstract ideas and the use of creativity is a reoccurring theme throughout this workshop.

Technical/Space Needs: Classroom, preferably with a sink or close to a sink location. Materials Needed: Access to digital cameras, SD card readers/flash drives, and a server that allows the downloading of images. Ability to print in color and black and white.
Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
Depending on the level of the project, either one meeting or a series of meetings to discuss the goals/objectives and expectations of the residency. What the teacher expectations will be, the materials that will be needed or used, and ultimately what the final exhibit and project will look like and the process behind that. May also need to give teachers a small tutorial on downloading and saving images, along with printing, if necessary.

Residency Description
A typical visual arts residency contains mural painting and drawing. Each student must have an opportunity to enter into the creative working process. The students are shown an example of a mural and the artist and class discuss what defines a mural. The process of sketching is demonstrated in order to develop the look and feel of the composition. Correlating the mural to an academic topic has been a fundamental inspiration and challenge. Inventing ways in which the children can create their own visual expression is key.

Technical/Space Needs: A space for the work is essential. Flat tables (3'x7') are needed along with a sink and a self-contained studio space. An ideal space would have a window and ventilation. Materials vary.

Residency Description

It's Alive! Who says sculpture can't dance or draw? In this residency, young makers invent kinetic electromechanical creatures with distinct personalities! Students draw “coded” character sketches, decode the work of their peers, and develop their designs into 3-D creatures. Finally, they bring them to life with motors, LED lights and electrical circuits. Students explore color, line, shape, form and kinetic elements, and assign personal meaning to their design choices. Participants in grades 6 and above create coded creatures with increasingly more complex circuits and unique kinetic elements that allow them to draw. All creatures go home after a culminating creature dance party!

Jing-Jy Chen

Artist Overview
Born in Taiwan, Jing-Jy Chen received a BA in Chinese literature from Taiwan Normal University and a Master’s Degree in Education from the University of Rochester. She started Chinese painting during her college years. She exquisitely portrays images of wildlife and nature through her delicate watercolor technique and keeps with Chinese tradition by using written characters and red signatures. The subtle strokes, simple lines, and limited color areas create an excellent sense of negative space. Her work has a graceful fluidity and the refined but fragile beauty and mystical quality of her renderings invites viewers into the story and presents them with new vistas.

John Iampieri

Artist Overview
Master screen painter, John Iampieri has been influenced by traditional methods of Baltimore screen painters. His work has been exhibited throughout Maryland, in feature films, on TV commercials, and in magazines and papers. In 2010, John's workshop at Pocomoke Middle School was included on "The NBC Today Show, with Anne Curry. In addition to sharing the history, tools and techniques used in this art form, John strives to teach students how works of art can express ideas, feelings, and meaning. His programs connect to any class curriculum from 1st grade up, with small screen projects to 60' long screen murals.

Residency Description
Screen painting is a unique and traditional folk art that started in Baltimore back in 1913. Students will work with artist John Iampieri to learn the history, techniques, and functionality of the art form. This residency will be custom-designed to meet your schools needs and budget. Students can make individual "mini screens" or a large-scale mural to be installed at the school. Screen painting images can be created from observation, memory, or imagination and is a perfect medium to connect to content in the classroom curriculum.

Technical/Space Needs: Workspace needed to roll out and design screens on tables. Once screens are mounted, need space to paint screen while they stand upright. Water source preferred. Materials Needed: Screens, frames, butcher paper, paint, brushes, and water.

Residency Description
The Felted Mural Residency Felting, a centuries-old art form comprised of sculpting loose wool into solid shapes, is an ideal, hands-on medium for broadening your student's perception of visual art. Students, working with both wet and needle-felting techniques, will develop individual elements of a larger, multi-paneled scene to be hung in the school upon completion. Students learn to take loose, dyed wool fibers and combine them with soap, water and friction to create a cohesive piece of fiber, and they'll use specially-designed felting needles to refine the fiber into a recognizable form, add detail and eventually work it onto the shared background. Grade Level: 4-8

The Felted Vessel Residency In this workshop, students felt wool around a tennis ball using soapy water and friction to create a solid structure. Once the shapes have dried, they'll be cut in two, leaving a small wool dish with a lid. In subsequent classes, students use embroidery needles, decorative thread and beads to embellish and create hinges, handles and feet. Grade level: K-8

Technical/Space Needs: An open room is needed with space to prepare the felt and to stage the murals. Materials Needed: Wool (from recycled sweaters), soap, needles, tennis ball (for vessel project), and a water source.

Residency Description
A typical residency consists of a mural project. The installation location is chosen during the orientation meeting prior to the start of the residency. The mural is then created on 4' x 6' wooden panels, which are installed prior to the start of the residency. Normally three panels are used to create an 18' mural. Children are divided into groups of 6 or 9 depending on the age level and complexity of the project. Each child draws and paints one image on the mural and works for a minimum of three sessions. The maximum number of students that can work on a mural is 135. Themes for completed murals have included underwater life, rain forests, NYC harbor, wagon trains, the history of Jazz, and homage to Romare Bearden.

Technical/Space Needs: The installation location is chosen during the orientation meeting and all information on installation and materials is given to the school. The panels are usually installed before the start of the residency. The school decides who will install the panels—either parent volunteers or maintenance staff. Other options can be discussed during the orientation meeting. Materials vary.

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
If there is enough time during a residency, teachers and staff are given a painting day to add images to the residency mural. Many principals, teachers, school nurses, secretaries, and custodians have painted on murals over the years. It is a wonderful experience for children to see their teacher or a school staff person painting on the mural. Art is part of everyone's life and not just reserved for professional artists.

Mia Halton

Artist Overview
Mia has created and taught visual art for many years. She believes in its power to inform, transform, and perhaps most importantly, to connect us to ourselves and to others. She uses a variety of materials and techniques when she explores the questions addressed in her work. Painting and Printmaking, however, are her primary media. Mia has taught many different kinds of people in a wide variety of settings, most recently Maryland Institute College of Art and the Baltimore Design School. Mia has an extensive exhibition record including museums, galleries, universities, and colleges in many areas of the United States. She has a BA in Religion and Painting from Kenyon College and an MFA in Painting from Maryland Institute College of Art. Mia is an active member of the Baltimore arts community.

Residency Description
Say it Loud and See it Big! - Painted Murals The concept for this large scale canvas mural will be determined by the school and the students. The finished artwork will be displayed permanently at the school, a lasting reminder of an important subject and of the residency experience. Students will work collaboratively to create an overall design that will showcase their individual interpretations of the pre-determined theme. Students will be introduced to beginning design theory and to the basics of using acrylic paints. Each student will take home a small canvas version of their design. Grade Level: 3-12 Sample Curriculum Connections: 21st century skills, Visual Arts Paint! Glorious Paint! Following on the heels of the masters, students will explore and experiment with the many properties of paint. They will be introduced to the vocabulary and art history related to the techniques being studied. Brushes, Q tips, twigs, and other tools will be used to deliver the paint to a variety of surfaces including paper, wood, and canvas. Warning: could be messy, will most certainly be fun. Grade Level: 3-12 5-9 sessions per classroom Curriculum Connections: 21st Century Skills, Visual Arts Why Just Have One? – Printmaking Used by artists since the 1600’s, Monotype is made by drawing or painting onto a smooth, non-absorbent surface. The material is transferred from there onto the paper. Students will work with themes as they explore this multi-faceted, surprise-filled medium. In relief printing, parts of the plate will be carved away, leaving the exposed areas to be printed. Materials for this portion of the residency will be determined by the age group and length of the residency. Grade Level: 3-12 5-9 sessions per classroom Sample Curriculum Connections: 21st century Skills, Visual Arts Technical needs: An LCD projector and a projection screen.

Residency Description
A project managed by Mr. Kirby involves students creating a permanent or ephemeral mural on walls, pavements, or movable surfaces. Students are taught to use all modern mural techniques such as fresco, marouflage, keim, pastels, grids, and designs. Mr. Kirby will give a presentation of the works he has created around the world and will design an image with the students and teachers. Students will work on the mural together. The final design is divided into a grid and each student is assigned a square from the grid. Mr. Kirby oversees all phases of the project.

Residency Description

Collaborative Stitching: Connecting and Inventing with Needle and Thread
Students experience creating with the warm, familiar materials of fabric and thread, and the important tools of needle and scissors, while learning the art of embroidery (drawing with thread) and applique (collaging with fabric on fabric.) The classroom transforms to a handwork studio with multiple stations, allowing students to work in turns on an individual piece to take home and a collaborative stitched textile that remains at the school. This project easily integrates with literacy, history, math and science; and invites students to playfully experiment and invent with the art elements of color, line, value, texture and shape.

Transformative Textiles: Weaving Together Math, Literacy and History
Students learn basic weaving, an art practiced for nearly 30,000 years. The classroom transforms to a handwork studio with multiple stations, allowing students to work in smaller groups and focus in turns on an individual weaving to take home and a collaborative textile that remains at the school. Weaving easily connects to core standards from math and science to history and literacy. In addition, many of the materials used are recycled, making this and experience in sustainability and environmental stewardship. Students playfully experiment with color and texture, gaining hands-on experience with the design elements of pattern, repetition and variation.

Technical/Space needs: Standard Size classroom, tables and chairs, 2-3 extra 6-foot folding tables, electrical outlet for optional iron and ironing board (provided by teaching artist)

Teacher Training or Workshops Provided
The Classroom as Handwork Studio: This workshop will present ideas for including handwork such as embroidery, applique, hand sewing and basic weaving as an ongoing work station in traditional classrooms. The fine motor focus, meditative practice, and warm, familiar materials of these hand arts are particularly well-suited to a variety of learners and easily tied to curriculum. This workshop will include concrete ideas for encouraging both creativity and craftsmanship, helping students stay organized, orchestrating the physical classroom space, and collaborating with ever-widening circles of teachers, students and families.

Parran Collery

Artist Overview
Artistic expression has been a definitive element of Parran Collery's life for as long as she can recall. Encouraged by her mother, also an artist, she started keeping a sketchbook at an early age, working on drawings and paintings. With an MFA degree from Rutgers University, Parran taught college ceramics for several years, and then in 1994 accepted a position at a studio that produced handmade tile. There, she was introduced to the traditional process of creating hand-pressed ceramic tiles. In 1997 Parran began working full time on her own designs, relocating her studio, Eartha Handmade Tile, to her hometown in Southern Maryland. Her work is exhibited in galleries across the US and is installed in many private residences.

Residency Description
After meeting with art teachers and the principal, a location for the installation is decided upon. The students help create the design according to the space chosen. A slide presentation is given of the artist's work, describing techniques that will be used. Texturing, metal, joining materials, creating tessera (an individual tile) for mosaics is then demonstrated. The students work in groups of ten, creating elements that will be joined to make a larger, collaborative installation. The focus is on teamwork and the shared pride that results in creating a large impressive piece of artwork.

Suzanne Herbert-Forton

Artist Overview
Ms. Herbert-Forton's work is inspired by the artisans of the middle ages. She was first introduced to the Byzantine style in her grandparent's Orthodox church. Every surface was decorated. Even the ceiling was painted—it was magical. Her artist mother took the family to museums where the medieval pieces caught her attention. She loved the stories they told, and was fascinated by the variety of materials used. In her work, Suzanne tries to capture the flavor of medieval art, both Christian and Islamic. She has emulated the textures, packed space, and rich colors. She tries to tell a story, usually a humorous one.

Tara Holl

Artist Overview
Ms. Holl has willingly gotten her hands "dirty" for as long as she can remember. With all the confusion of growing up in a big family and moving a dozen times while a child, the one constant has always been art. It was never a question--it was a need, a way to breathe. To this day, she delights in learning a new medium, a new technique. She feels that she is constantly evolving as an artist and as a teacher. Ms. Holl has had the good fortune to teach a variety of people through the years, from the very young to the reasonably "mature." Each experience is different.

Residency Description
Typically, a residency project will start with an orientation meeting to explore the kind of project desired and the age group that will participate. Once this information is gathered, an approach is created (a map of sorts) to achieve the project with the children. Once the residency begins, the artist talks with the children about what is going to be accomplished -- often using visual aids such as pictures, photographs, and examples of the technique. Ms. Holl's approach is all about the children. She believes that all students have something to say artistically and celebrates each child's personal achievement.

Alden Phelps

Artist Overview
Alden Phelps is an experienced artist, musician, and performer. He has performed at The National Theater, First Night Annapolis, Fells Point Festival, Columbia Festival of the Arts, Howard County Center for the Arts, Reisterstown Festival, Syracuse University, Eastern Connecticut State University, The Gordon Center, Pier Six Pavilion, Harborplace Summer Children’s Theatre Programs, numerous libraries, and many multi-day puppetry and/or performance workshops in elementary, middle, and high schools in the DelMarVa area. A graduate of the Maryland Institute College of Art, Alden co-founded Open Space Arts center in 1989, where, for the next 14 years, he wrote and performed stage plays, musicals, and puppet productions. His latest CD of children's music is called "A Little Cow Music."

Performance Description
Alden Phelps will perform his hilarious yet educational assembly program Wordplay for your students, then teach them to create their own songs, poems, and rhymes. This performance combines elements of Language Arts, Social Studies and economics. Alden explores the concepts of irony, parody, rhyme structure and elements of speech and explains how to apply them to themes like transportation and technology. A true arts-integration residency, Mr. Phelps will explore "economic decision making" and cause and effect, making merry music all the while.

Carolyn Koerber

Artist Overview
Carolyn has been presenting puppet theatre that excites the imagination since 1969. A truly unique and outstanding artist, storyteller, and puppeteer, Carolyn reaches the hearts and minds of everyone in her audience. She has appeared at The Smithsonian, The National Theatre, and thousands of schools, libraries, and community centers in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Performance Description
In "The Flying Tortoise - A Nigerian Trickster Tale" (Grades K-5) Mbeku tricks the birds into making him a pair of wings so he can fly to Skyland for a feast. When he eats all the food, the birds plan a trick of their own. "The Widow and the Fishes - An Indonesian Folktale" (Grades K-5) tells the tale of a poor widow sent a great fortune by Mighty Siwa. When her neighbor hears this, he demands two sacks of gold. Are his demands answered? "The Precious Pearl" (Grades PreK-3) is a folktale about Chau, who is made to work for the village chief. Children will be caught up in this lovely tale of the rewards that come to those who give of themselves.

Chris August

Artist Overview
For over ten years, Chris August worked as a special educator in and around Baltimore city. During this time, he spent all of his free moments writing poetry and traveling the country to perform it. Over that time, he became involved in the national slam poetry community, which challenges writers to take their poetic works to the stage, competing with performance-ready versions of their best work. Chris has been a member of seven nationally competitive performance poetry teams, and was named the number one slam poet in the world at the 2011 Individual World Poetry Slam held in Cleveland, Ohio.

ClancyWorks Dance Company

Artist Overview

The ClancyWorks Dance Company (CWDC) is a collective of performing artists directed by Adrienne Clancy. Company members have more than seventeen years of dance and choreographic experience and have held major choreographic, performance, and administrative positions in numerous nationally recognized companies, festivals, and universities. Specific to Clancy's creative process is an exploration of architecturally informed partnering work that is developed with a group of diverse dancers. Her company's approach to partnering is simultaneously dynamic and sensitive; highly physical yet at the same time extremely human. Central to the mission of CWDC is the use of dynamic people partnering in order to exemplify an environment of mutual respect and to create empowering images that embrace diversity and build community.

Performance Description

"Partnering into Performance" allows students to see how dance connects with different aspects of their education. Dancers perform dances from a variety of styles including contemporary modern dance, hip-hop/jazz dance routines to educate the audience about teamwork and the power of dance. This performance focuses on the importance of mutual respect and highlights a model for shared power and positive artistic collaborations. Students are engaged through athletically charged dance performances as well as dialogue and call and response exercises.

Performance needs: A gymnasium is preferred; a cleared, clean, level stage is also okay.

Dance Exchange

Artist Overview
Liz Lerman Dance Exchange was founded in 1976. Its unique brand of dance/theatre breaks boundaries between stage and audience, theater and community, movement and language, tradition and the unexplored. Working with senior adults, teens, children and other specific populations, the Dance Exchange has pioneered numerous workshop techniques for inspiring story, movement, and creative insight. Collaborative art-making unites participants, bringing diverse voices and viewpoints to the stage. In 2002, Liz Lerman was awarded the prestigious "genius" award from the MacArthur Foundation. Current choreographic projects explore coal mining, the human genome, radical prayer, and alternatively defined families.

Each item she pulls out sparks a memory of days past and of courageous Black women and their struggles to be free, to vote, and to get an education. Using monologues, poetry, and songs, Debra leads the audience in this highly interactive walk through an important part of America's history. In "Grandma's Cautionary Tales" (Grades 1-8) Grandmother Sally Kathryn Mims returns to tell stories her grandmother told her. This time she tells an entertaining mix of ghost, folk, and "cautionary" tales found in African, African-American, and Caribbean literature. The stories engage the audience in an entertaining and interactive style. Most important, the audience learns a moral or lesson from the stories.

Dovie Thomason

Artist Overview
Ms. Thomason's traditional storytelling celebrates her Lakota & Kiowa Apache ("Plains Indians") cultures, as well as the Woodlands Iroquois and Algonquian cultures who trained her. Stories teach respect for other cultures and inspire delight in the Spoken Word. Thomason's a former teacher and a master of her craft who profoundly believes that fluency with spoken word and active listening skills are perhaps the most powerful tools we can bring to our students' competence with both oral and written language projects. This Literacy By Word of Mouth process enriches language arts, social studies, earth sciences, and student and teacher verbal confidence.

Artist Overview
Footworks has toured nationally and internationally since 1979, including a Smithsonian Institution tour of Japan, and as guest artists with Riverdance in London. Founder and Artistic Director Eileen Carson is a National Endowment for the Arts Choreography Fellow. She has been awarded a Maryland State Arts Council Individual Artist Award in Choreography and was honored with "Annie" Award from the Cultural Arts Foundation of Anne Arundel County.

Performance Description
In "Steps Around the World," Footworks introduces students to the melting pot and multi-cultural origins of percussive dance. Students will learn that when Irish, Scottish, and English immigrants came to the New World, they brought with them their step dancing traditions, and these dances, in turn, were influenced by the rhythms and melodies of the African, African-American, and Native American cultures. Students will see the result of this melting pot, including Southern Appalachian clogging and tap. They will become active participants through call-and-response and "hamboning." (A wooden performing surface is suggested.)

Performance Description
"Traditional and Contemporary Acoustic Music" explores the world of acoustic music and the instruments that make it. Starting with the familiar 12-string guitar and progressing through a wide variety of instruments including the Irish bouzouki, hammered dulcimer, harmonica, English concertina, recorder, limberjack, banjo, and Appalachian dulcimer, students are introduced to each instrument, its history and origins, and the method by which it makes sound. Musical selections include traditional and contemporary American music (including Appalachian and bluegrass music), Broadway melodies, popular children's songs, Irish music, and original works. Students are actively involved throughout the program and questions are encouraged. On request, other instruments such as the strumstick from the Blue Ridge Mountains, the Anglo-German concertina, the soprano hammered dulcimer, and the chromatic harmonica can be included. Program and presentation are tailored to the audience. Workshops are available.

Hot Horns

Artist Overview
Hot Horns (formerly Bay Street Brassworks) received first prize at the 2003 New York Quintet Competition. Founded in 1995, this brass quintet performs a wide variety of musical genres. Hot Horns has cooperative relationships with a number of Young Audiences organizations, which allows them to provide both educational and concert opportunities. The musicians spend a considerable amount of time encouraging young brass players. The range of musical abilities has produced engagements from formal concert series to opening ceremonies for the Baltimore Orioles Baseball team and Arlington, Virginia's Bicentennial celebration. Hot Horns has toured in the U.S. and performed for packed concert halls during a 1999 Korean tour.

Performance Description
"Brass Can Do Anything" (Grades K-8) encourages students to have a toe-tapping, finger-snapping, hand-clapping good time as they find out about the history of the brass family "past to present." They will learn about various music periods and connections to world history, physics, and math. Students will hear a 15th century equivalent of surround stereophonic sound, take an imaginary trip to the movies, and selected students will make music on homemade brass instruments. "All that Jazz" (Grades 6-12) begins with a New Orleans-style Dixieland parade as students are introduced to America's own musical art form. A tour of American jazz artists includes Baltimore's own Eubie Blake and Billie Holiday, as well as Joplin, Ellington, W.C. Handy, Glenn Miller, Dave Brubeck, and more.

Performance needs: Five armless chairs, microphone or PA for large audience, floor or stage.

Lesole’s Dance Project

Artist Overview
Lesole Zacharia Maine was born in Sebokeng, South Africa. This small township just outside of Johannesburg, rich in diversity, culture, and tradition, was an environment where he recognized his love of dance and appreciation for the many ethnic customs taking place around him. Fluent in more than three languages, Lesole is able to use his heritage to enhance his performances. In 1995, he was awarded a scholarship to study with Johannesburg-based Moving Into Dance Company, where studied Contemporary, Jazz, Afrofusion, Modern, Ballet, Jive, Hip Hop, Traditional, and Modern South African dance. After graduating from the Community Dance Teaching Course, Lesole was offered a position as a dancer and teacher in 1997. He has since traveled around the world (Canada, Cote d'Ivoire, Croatia, France, Holland, Jordan, Lesotho, Malaysia, Nigeria, Portugal, Switzerland and various cities in the United States).

Dance your way to the tip of the African continent. Experience three exciting cultures. Traditional Ndlamu dance from Zulu villages gives a snapshot of the clothing, customs, live drumming, and high energy of South Africa. The moves and percussive sounds of Gumboot demonstrate a kind of “instant messaging” dance slapped out on gold miners’ rubber boots. Pantsula is an upbeat urban dance like American hip-hop but with a cultural twist, and audience volunteers are invited to learn. Lesole’s Dance Project is a traditional and modern dance company founded in 2003 by native South African Lesole Maine.

Mark Jaster

Artist Overview
Mr. Jaster is a performing artist trained in mime by twentieth-century masters Etienne Decroux and Marcel Marceau. He believes that performance is fundamental to human culture and that humor can be a balm to the spirit. He believes, too, in the power of the imagination to shape the world. Great art belongs everywhere. Part of his work is to bring great mime to schools. In school residencies he seeks to engage students and teachers in the creative process, to expand their expressive vocabulary, to place mime in context of its history and of the other arts, and to bring joy.

Milkshake

Artists Overview
The Grammy-nominated Milkshake has released four award-winning CDs, a Parent’s Choice Silver Award winning DVD Screen Play, and has had music videos on Nick Jr., PBS KIDS and the Emmy-winning cartoon ToddWorld. Their fourth CD, Great Day, was nominated for a Grammy for “Best Musical Recording for Children” in 2010. As Parents magazine says: “If kids don’t push the replay button, parents will.” This special duo performance for schools features Lisa Mathews and Mikel Gehl of the Milkshake Band.

Performance Description
Milkshake is a rock duo for kids and grown-ups alike fronted by vocalist Lisa Mathews and acoustic guitar player Mikel Gehl. Milkshake’s program is an interactive and inspiring performance which encourages children to be a part of the band and take part in the music-making. Children participate through body movement and voice. Creative expression is encouraged with every song as young children interpret different styles of music, responding to singing games which include beat, tempo, and rhythm.

Skher Brown and the Capoeira is Culture Performers

Artist Overview

Skher began studying Capoeira Angola more than 20 years ago under the tutelage of a renowned master from Salvador, Brazil. This traditional dance-fight art form led him to live in South America, learn Portuguese, and to literally “stand on his head.” As a teacher, he gains student trust as an authority figure that is committed to nurturing their character development. The Capoeira is Culture Performers mesmerize audiences with Capoeira Angola’s acrobatic choreography which transports students across the Atlantic Ocean to learn about this unique culture, dance, and music, while addressing character development and bullying.

Performance Description
"Exploring the Roots of American Folk Music" introduces traditional American folk instruments including fiddle, banjo, guitar, and dulcimer to the audience, and their multicultural roots are explained. The audience is invited to sing along while each instrument is played. The "Sunnyland Band" is chosen from audience members and the entire audience is invited to join in an African-American folk dance. Slim and Brynda Ambush Harrison also present "The Peaceweavers, Peace Songs and Stories from Around the World." During optional workshops following the concert, a 4’ to 6’ in diameter "Peaceweavers' Wheel" is created by weaving strips of cloth and ribbon to help visualize peace and conflict resolution. Residency programs are available for both programs.

Cost
Exploring $500-$600; ($600-$700)/Peaceweavers $800; ($900) plus travel

Steve Cyphers Trio

Artist Overview
Steve has been a percussionist for 30 years. He has performed on stage his whole adult life, touring with bands in the U.S. and abroad, contributing drums, percussion, songwriting, and vocals. As a front-man, he has a unique ability to engage and connect with audiences. Since 2011, Steve has pursued a career as a teaching artist, beginning with performances as a back-up musician for Young Audiences artist Kevin Martin’s “Birth of Steel Drums.” Steve has taught residencies, completed the Teaching Artist Institute Seminars 1 and 2 and currently performs with the Young Audiences ensemble, G.R.O.W.

Performance Description
Assembly: Adventures in Rhythm - This assembly by a three-piece percussive-rock band features Steve Cyphers on vocals, drums, and percussion, backed by a bass player/vocalist and a guitarist/vocalist. Steve teaches students about the history, geography, and evolution of percussion instruments, from the log drum of Africa to the modern drum kit. Using shakers, hand-held instruments, clapping, stomping, and singing, students experience different musical genres, styles, and the different rhythms that accompany them. Many elements of music are illustrated, including pitch, tone, tempo, and duration. Students walk away with a unique take on how fractions tie into music from a drummer’s point of view.

Sue Trainor

Artist Overview
Ms. Trainor is an award-winning performing-songwriter and recording artist with the trio Hot Soup. Her gift for motivating and inspiring creativity led her to work in schools through MSAC (1997), Wolf Trap (2003), and Montgomery County’s AIE roster (2007). She earned the Maryland Teaching Artist Institute certificate (TAI, 2007) and is now on the TAI teaching staff. She served on staff for the Maryland Artist/Teacher Institute (2002, 2006) and the Very Special Arts Artist Retreats (2003-2006), both presented in part by the Maryland Department of Education. Sue also is certified to offer in-service programs for Maryland preschool and day care providers.

Performance Description
"Writing Songs to Learn" is an engaging, interactive concert of songs and demonstrations where students will learn about the musical tools a songwriter uses and how and why a songwriter uses them to write songs. Sue will lead students to see the powerful connection that a songwriter's musical tools-- beat, rhythm, melody and lyrics-- adds to everyday verbal expression in the creation of original music for the purpose of communicating personal narrative, informative, or persuasive points. Student volunteers will be invited to create lyrics to existing melodies by making a list, using repetition, figurative language and rhyme, and by asking questions.

Synetic Theatre

Artist Overview
Artistic Director Paata Tsikurishvili has created one of the only professional pantomime theatre repertories for youth in the United States. He uses Georgian (former Republic of the Soviet Union) pantomime traditions, combined with dance, clowning, and music, to create a professional pantomime repertoire for all ages. Paata Tsikurishvili and Resident Choreographer, Irina Tsikurishvili, have, between them, been nominated twelve times for the prestigious Helen Hayes Awards in Washington, DC. Irina has won four times for Choreography and Paata has twice won Best Director and Best Resident Play.

Assembly: The People We Meet and the Friends We Keep
This contemporary dance performance is focused on creating and sustaining healthy relationships between peers, family members, the new people we meet, and those within our surrounding communities. Audience members will have an interactive performance experience as they are invited to think about solutions to problems between friends, explore body movements for self-expression, and use elements viewed in the performance to choreograph their own dance sequence based on what they believe it would take to create and sustain healthy relationships.

Technical/Space Needs: A clean open space that is at least 20x20. If the performance is in a gym and students are on the same level as the dancers to ensure that there is enough separation between the performers and the students to ensure a full experience. Access to an electrical outlet.

WombWork Productions, Inc.

Artist Overview
In 1997, three visionary artists established WombWork Productions, which utilizes dance, music, and theatre as traditional sources of healing and empowerment for the community. The Nu World Art Ensemble, WombWork’s youth-driven touring theatre company, provides culturally and spiritually-based instruction in vocal and dance techniques, writing, psychodrama, meditation and Native American and African songs and rituals. Nu World creates riveting and insightful theatre productions based on the life experiences of its young participants. Student participants also gain experience in leadership and community outreach, improving their sense of self-worth and inspiring them to become an integral part of positive change.

Performance Description
The Nu World Art Ensemble: Through song, dance, and theatre, the Nu World Art Ensemble shares the stories and rich cultural contributions of Africans and African Americans, conveying terrible struggles and powerful triumphs throughout history. With the goal of inspiring ethnic pride, Nu World educates and entertains while giving students the opportunity for a hands-on, interactive experience with the production. Students will gain positive cultural awareness from this unforgettable performance.
